

Contents

Foreword	xi
Douglas Fisher
Acknowledgments	xv
CHAPTER 1 The Genius of Think Alouds: To Think Big, Readers Need to Hear What “Big” Sounds Like	1
What Think Alouds Are	4
What Think Alouds Are Not	10
Why Think Alouds Are Relevant Today	13
The Educational Theories Behind Think Alouds	14
Practice Makes Perfect: The Three-Step Process to Planning Think Alouds	15
Read Once: Identifying Juicy Stopping Points	16
Read Twice: Determining Where and When to Think Aloud	16
Read Three Times: Writing the Scripts on Sticky Notes	16
A Final Note About the Three-Step Process	17
How to Use This Book	17
Final Thoughts	18
Ready for a Trial Run?	19
CHAPTER 2 Think Aloud With Focus: Five Comprehension Strategies That Go the Distance	23
How Think Alouds Benefit Our Readers	24
Arming Yourself With the Five Essential Think Aloud Strategies	25
Standing on the Shoulders of Giants	26
A Note About the Strategy Symbols	27
A Note About the Sentence Starters	28
The Five Essential Think Aloud Strategies	28
Asking Questions	28
Making Inferences	31
Synthesizing	34
Understanding the Author’s Purpose	35
Monitoring and Clarifying	37

Final Thoughts	39
Ready for a Trial Run?	39
CHAPTER 3 Read Once: Identifying Juicy Stopping Points	41
An Overview	41
Using Poetry in Kindergarten	43
Using Narrative Text in Third Grade	45
Using Informational Text in Fifth Grade	45
Final Thoughts	50
Ready for a Trial Run?	56
CHAPTER 4 Read Twice: Determining Where and When to Think Aloud	59
Examining the Original Stopping Points in “Sick” by Shel Silverstein	61
Examining the Original Stopping Points in Enemy Pie by Derek Munson	63
Examining the Original Stopping Points in Eyes and Ears by Seymour Simon	68
Final Thoughts	75
Ready for a Trial Run?	76
CHAPTER 5 Read Three Times: Writing the Scripts on Sticky Notes	77
Signaling for Think Alouds	79
Think Aloud Sentence Starters	81
DIE TEMPLATE FOR USING SENTENCE STARTERS	82
SPINNER TEMPLATE FOR USING SENTENCE STARTERS	83
THINK ALOUD SENTENCE STARTERS	84
Introducing the Three-Column Chart	86
The Think Aloud Scripts for Our Model Texts	86
THE THINK ALOUD CHART	87
Final Thoughts	100
Ready for a Trial Run?	100
CHAPTER 6 How Did They Go? Teachers Share Successes and Challenges	101
Inside K–5 Classrooms: A Yearlong Study	102
Lessons Learned From the Yearlong Study	103
Lesson 1: Planning a think aloud requires a clear structure and process.	104
Lesson 2: Teachers’ abilities to think aloud and confidence in the strategy grow tremendously over time.	105

Lesson 3: Teachers are eager for additional and ongoing support in thinking aloud.	107
Ideas to Hone Your Thinking Aloud	107
Evaluating Your Own Thinking Aloud	108
Final Thoughts	120
FEEDBACK FORM FOR THINK ALOUD REFLECTIONS	121
Ready for a Trial Run?	123
CHAPTER 7 Students Do: Tips and Tools for Helping Your Readers Think Aloud on Their Own	125
Using Gradual Release of Responsibility to Scaffold Think Alouds	125
The “I Do” Phase	126
THINK ALOUD CATCHER	128
The “We Do” Phase: Introducing the Think Along	129
“WE DO” CHART	130
The “You Do” Phase	142
Encouraging Self-Evaluation With Think Alouds	144
Applying Think Alouds Across Content Areas	144
SELF-EVALUATION CHART FOR READERS	145
Thinking Aloud With Visuals	147
Final Thoughts	150
Ready for a Trial Run?	151
Appendices
Appendix A: Sample Think Aloud	153
Appendix B: Sample Texts	156
Appendix C: Think Alouds for Sample Texts	162
Appendix D: Think Aloud Sentence Starters	168
Appendix E: Three-Column Think Aloud Chart	171
Appendix F: Think Aloud Script for The Circus Ship by Chris Van Dusen	172
Appendix G: Think Aloud Script for A Bad Case of Stripes by David Shannon	181
Appendix H: Think Aloud Self-Evaluation	185
Appendix I: Think Aloud Scripts	186
Appendix J: Putting It Together: Think Aloud Scripts	221
References	249
Index	255

Visit the companion website at resources.corwin.com/ness-thinkalouds for downloadable resources.