Renowned international educators to speak at Vancouver conference

VANCOUVER (AUGUST 7, 2018)— Corwin, the leading professional learning provider for K-12 educators, is pleased to bring together the greatest minds in education. It will host a series of two-day Visible Learning^{plus} Foundation Institutes in Vancouver and two other major Canadian cities throughout the summer and fall.

The event, will take place at the Executive Airport Plaza Hotel & Conference Centre Richmond from November 5th through the 6th. The others will take place in Toronto from August 21st to 22nd and Calgary from August 23rd to 24th.

The timing is particularly significant as they follow Corwin's April global acquisition of Visible Learning^{plus}, the model of school change based on Australian professor John Hattie's internationally renowned research.

As John Hattie's partner and the official global provider of Visible Learning^{plus}, Corwin President Mike Soules said "We have the opportunity to give every child an education that is built by design. We are excited to share the latest developments in the Visible Learning research with our Canadian attendees and provide impactful strategies for educators to bring back to their classrooms."

The Institute in Vancouver is in partnership with Nelson, Canada's leading educational publisher, and the British Columbia Principals' & Vice-Principals' Association, a professional association dedicated to helping principals and vice-principals provide quality leadership in education.

Attendees will learn from education thought leaders who will share insights from the world's largest research on what works best in student learning. Speakers include:

- Ainsley Rose, Former Gatineau Quebec School Board education director
- Douglas Fisher, San Diego State University Professor of Educational Leadership
- Connie Hamilton, Director of Curriculum of a Michigan School board

The Visible Learning research is a culmination of over 25 years of examining and synthesizing more than 1,400 meta-analyses comprising approximately 90,000 studies involving over 250 million students around the world. Visible Learning^{plus} translates this groundbreaking research into a practical model of analysis and evaluation through professional learning district and school-wide.
