

Why Collaborative Leadership Works

Five ways Collaborative Leadership stands out, according to actual school partners.

1. Your consultant comes back multiple times to provide “close coaching,” teaching how to develop a multi-layered approach.
2. It uses scenario-based exercises to let participants practice what they’re learning, helping learners connect to the new concepts.
3. The format is highly replicable by districts as they set up professional learning programs across schools, within schools, and among teacher teams.
4. The advice and direction are practical, helping participants see the theory they’re learning as highly doable.
5. The creator of Collaborative Leadership—Peter DeWitt—is inspiring, which pushes people to want to grow in their roles.

Read more about these school partnerships:
corwin.com/coleadwhitepaper

