The conference will be held at the Hilton Daytona Beach Resort in Daytona Beach, Florida on May 2, 2017.

Who should attend the Teacher Clarity Institute?

- Principals and assistant principals
- Staff developers
- Curriculum and instructional developers
- Superintendents and assistant superintendents
- Teacher leaders and teachers

Why should educators attend the Teacher Clarity Institute?

We are living in what is called a “Clarity Crisis”— the perfect storm of brand-new standards, or a change of standards from Common Core to a new version of state standards, new assessments, and potentially new curriculum. Teacher Clarity, on the other hand, can be defined as clear learning intentions, clear success criteria, and clear learning progressions for every unit of study which empowers students to eventually own their own learning. At the Teacher Clarity Institute, attendees will:

- Learn each step of the process, including understanding the “what” and the “why”.
- Break into teams, take their existing curriculum and standards, and work every single step of the process.
- Complete two entire units of learning intentions, success criteria, and learning progressions.

Esteemed speakers Sonja Alexander and Tommy Thompson will lead the institute help attendees design every step of the Clarity Process. Registration for the Teacher Clarity Institute is $399 for individuals.
